

RESPECTING Rights

A project at ARCH
led by people with disabilities.

RESPECTING RIGHTS: MY VOICE, MY CHOICE

Respecting Rights is a project at ARCH led by people with disabilities. At Respecting Rights self-advocates, social workers and lawyers work together. We call this triple scoop – just like an ice cream cone!

Respecting Rights will give workshops to people with disabilities in 3 communities.

In our workshops we will use role play to learn about our right to make decisions, how we can get support to do that and what to do if this right is not respected by others.

ARCH
Disability Law Centre

RESPECTING Rights

A project at ARCH
led by people with disabilities.

RESPECTING RIGHTS: MY VOICE, MY CHOICE

Respecting Rights is a project at ARCH led by people with disabilities. At Respecting Rights self-advocates, social workers and lawyers work together. We call this triple scoop – just like an ice cream cone!

Respecting Rights will give workshops to people with disabilities in 3 communities.

In our workshops we will use role play to learn about our right to make decisions, how we can get support to do that and what to do if this right is not respected by others.

ARCH
Disability Law Centre

THINK ABOUT: How do you make your decisions about your life?
Do you get support to make your own decisions?
Do other people make your decisions for you?

CONTACT US

Respecting Rights
Coordinator: Sue Hutton

 huttons@lao.on.ca

1-866-482-2724 (Toll free)

416-482-8255 (Toronto)

416-482-1254 (TTY)

THINK ABOUT: How do you make your decisions about your life?
Do you get support to make your own decisions?
Do other people make your decisions for you?

CONTACT US

Respecting Rights
Coordinator: Sue Hutton

 huttons@lao.on.ca

1-866-482-2724 (Toll free)

416-482-8255 (Toronto)

416-482-1254 (TTY)